The Aspen Ideas Festival brings scientists, artists, politicians, historians, educators, activists, and other great thinkers together to present, debate, and discuss some of the most important and fascinating ideas and issues of our time. Across the week, Festival presenters will contribute unique perspectives from myriad fields of endeavor, with objectives to deepen understanding, enliven dialogue, and perhaps inspire further action.

Welcome to the Aspen Ideas Festival

We’re glad you’re here! The next several days will be packed full of stimulating presentations, substantive conversations, and interactive experiences that we hope will provoke, enlighten, and inspire.

OUR SCHEDULE: Given the dynamic nature of our program, our schedule can change. Here is how we will keep you posted:

- Aspen Ideas mobile app and AspenIdeas.org updated continuously with schedule changes, news, videos, and more
- Spoken announcements in advance of sessions

THE APP: Be sure to download the Aspen Ideas Festival app, available on iOS and Android. The app is your go-to source for the latest schedule information, speaker bios, and much more. Allow push notifications so you’ll receive important schedule updates.

ACCESS: Your Festival pass gives you access to all on-campus and in-town Festival programming including plenaries, workshops, evening sessions, and more. Please remember to wear your Festival pass at all times. Seating is on a first-come, first-served basis. We suggest arriving to venues early. Seats fill up quickly, and latecomers can be disruptive and distracting to presenters.

NEED HELP? Concierges are stationed at each venue to answer questions about scheduling, locations, the mobile app, and all things Festival related.

Enjoy!
The Aspen Ideas Festival Team
Over the last 10 years, Comcast has connected 10 million people from low-income families to high-speed internet for less than $10/month. Over the next 10 years, through Project UP, Comcast is investing $1 billion to advance digital equity and reach millions more with the tools and resources they need to build a future of unlimited possibilities.
A couple of degrees makes a world of difference — and a difference to our world. Megafires, rising seas, failing infrastructure, and food systems require our immediate attention. Demands on dwindling natural resources continue to mount, but the roadmap to a healthy relationship with our planet exists. We can turn carbon into meat and apply indigenous knowledge of forests and fire. We can decarbonize the grid and improve how we make batteries. We can reach those historically left out of big decisions, even the ones who remain skeptical. Technological, policy, and business solutions abound. What will it take to deploy them at the speed and scale we need to reverse the consequences of a changing climate?

Power structures are shifting at all levels of society, at home and abroad. Antagonism between superpowers is escalating, and democracy is imperiled in places it once seemed indomitable. Despite international institutions designed to encourage peace and security, nations are at war with militaries on the ground and in cyberspace, and the number of refugees from conflict and other hardships is increasing on an unimaginable scale. Political, racial, and socioeconomic divisions on the home front keep us in a constant ideological tug-of-war. Who will lead the way and how? With what tools? Where does real power lie, and how will it be exercised?

If lockdowns and isolation have shown us anything, it’s that we need each other. Gathering together feeds our very human need to be connected. Yet many of us are rethinking our friendships and even reevaluating what we expect out of worklife culture. How do we strengthen the emotional muscles we need for life after things come apart? What have we learned about mental health, the resilience of children, and the limits of Zoom school? We’ll ponder the challenging boundaries between humanity and technology and celebrate the unexpected and sometimes profound ways connection — both digital and IRL — improves our lives.

A healthy society requires trust among its members, in its leaders, and in critical social institutions: government, business, science, education, media. As our country grapples with a long overdue racial and cultural reckoning, with a pandemic, with gun violence, and with the widespread diffusion of misinformation, the need to find common ground has never been more urgent. We’ll examine where the fault lines are widening, where they might be shrinking, and hear from people around the country on how to repair the invisible — but essential — social fabric that binds us. How can we revive trust in our institutions, and in each other?
It’s time to build a financial system that works for everyone.

At the Mastercard Center for Inclusive Growth, we’re investing in actionable insights, scalable programs and cross-sector partnerships to enable millions of individuals and small businesses to be more financially secure.

MONEY

Inflation is up, markets are down, and cryptocurrency is all over the place. Is our monetary system stable? Should we rethink our approach to globalization? What role should government, entrepreneurs, philanthropists, and individuals play to advance prosperity for all — and in a meaningful, long-term fashion? Money matters, and through that lens we’ll explore the high-level and day-to-day economic questions of our time.

BEAUTY

The nature of beauty, and whether it’s objective or subjective, is the subject of timeless philosophical debate. Do perceptions of beauty vary culturally and generationally, or are they determined by something more primitive within us? Should beauty be the goal of art, or is conveying a particular emotion between artist and audience more critical? When we are overcome by natural beauty, is it part social conditioning? And turning to the mirror, how might we better understand our often fraught relationship to self-perception, especially in the age of social media? We’ll examine the notion of beauty in its many forms, celebrate the innumerable ways it moves us, and seek constructive approaches when it might be harmful.

VIEWPOINTS

Join as we delve into some of the most innovative ideas and thought-provoking conversations through the viewpoints of those who inspire. Among the trailblazers in this programming are a former secretary of state and former national security advisor reflecting on global diplomacy; an astrophysicist giving a guided tour of black holes; and a refugee sharing her firsthand report on the human dimensions of the tragedy in Ukraine.
Small businesses are the heart of our communities. At Wells Fargo, we’re working together with more than 3 million small businesses, helping to propel them to a brighter and more secure future.

With our Open For Business Fund, we’re donating roughly $420MM through nonprofits, to provide small businesses in cities across America with valuable equity and resources.

We’ve done hard things before, we do them all the time.

For most cancer patients, the usual options are surgery, chemotherapy, or radiation. So we’re working on ways to get the immune system to deploy billions of cancer-killing cells and help more patients survive.

When some people experienced mysterious COVID symptoms and had nowhere to go, our team created the first Center for Post-COVID Care.

It wasn’t that long ago we had to open up your whole chest for heart surgery. Now we’re pioneering a bypass that goes through a few tiny incisions. With this surgery, we can get you back on your feet in weeks instead of months.

So if anyone ever tells you there’s no other way—don’t listen.

They said it couldn’t be done. We didn’t listen.

Mount Sinai proudly celebrates our 10th anniversary of partnership with the Aspen Institute.
The Resnick Center for Herbert Bayer Studies is the newest addition to Aspen’s vibrant cultural scene. Come learn about the artist who helped transform the Aspen Institute and the city of Aspen, and whose work shaped the origins of the Ideas Festival.

Opening on day one of the Aspen Ideas Festival, and available exclusively for Festival participants each morning, the Resnick Center for Herbert Bayer Studies is a new exhibition space located on the southeastern edge of the Aspen Meadows campus, just steps away from the Benedict Music Tent.

The Bayer Center preserves the art and legacy of Herbert Bayer (1900 – 1985), an influential modern artist and designer who studied and taught at the Bauhaus before emigrating from Germany to the United States in 1938. After relocating to Colorado in 1946, Bayer helped lead the postwar revitalization of the city of Aspen, shaped the early artistic and programmatic vision of the Aspen Institute, and designed the historic Aspen Meadows campus between 1949 and 1975.

Join us this summer as we launch Herbert Bayer: An Introduction—a landmark exhibition of over 150 of Bayer’s modernist masterpieces. On view through late 2022, the show is the first major US career-wide survey of Bayer to be staged in nearly 50 years.

Operating as an exhibition space and platform for research, the Bayer Center honors Bayer’s interdisciplinary perspective through exhibitions, public programming, community engagement, educational initiatives, and the support of scholarship in the arts and humanities.

The center promotes widespread appreciation for the Aspen Institute’s commitment to art, design, and media, a history that includes our iconic International Design Conference in Aspen (IDCA) and its contemporary expression in the Aspen Ideas Festival. For more information, visit thebayercenter.org.

The Resnick Center for Herbert Bayer Studies is made possible through the generosity of our lead donors Lynda and Stewart Resnick, and through the support of our additional donors and supporters.
EXTENDED SESSIONS

WORKSHOPS, DEEP DIVES, AND A SPECIAL TOWN HALL

Each full day of the Festival features a special, extended time block starting at 1:35 PM. The extra time allows for an interactive town hall, workshops — where you'll have the chance to practice putting ideas into action — and deep dives, which allow for more speakers to illuminate the topic at hand. All are sure to keep you interested and energized. Keep an eye out for these as you plan your days. (See session listings on the mobile app and on aspenideas.org for more details and speakers.)

JUNE 26

WORKSHOP
What Should Every American Know?
This simple question, when truly participatory, compels us to explore together what it means to participate in civic life, and how we might realize the aspirations of our democracy. How would you answer?

DEEP DIVES
Road Map to Net-Zero
If the world is going to get to net-zero carbon emissions, we'll need comprehensive, systemic change. We also need to recognize that there is no silver bullet, but a series of actions that must be taken by government, industry, and community.

Cryptocurrency: Trustworthy Alternative or Dangerous Speculation?
There is growing trust and interest in this blockchain-based mechanism for both trade and exchange. But does it really have lasting value? And how should crypto be regulated?

JUNE 27

WORKSHOPS
#DetoxYourFeed
One in two girls say toxic beauty advice on social media causes low self-esteem, and seven in ten have felt better after unfollowing idealized beauty content. Learn how to identify toxic beauty advice and build resilience against it.

The Science of Conversation: What Super-Communicators Know
Over the last two decades, researchers have found that how we communicate can have tremendous influence on what we say and how we hear. Learn various techniques and what we can learn about discussing the hardest topics.

Surfacing Opportunities Where Others Only See Problems
Learn the concept of “asset-framing,” an award-winning cognitive framework that engenders understanding, confidence, and inspired constructive action.

DEEP DIVE
What to Eat in a Warming World
Food — delicious, nutritious, and plentiful — is essential to life. But the way we’re producing and consuming it is anything but friendly to life on the planet, and we need a new plan.

JUNE 29

TOWN HALL
How to Mend Our Fraying Social Fabric
How can we find common ground when we can't even agree that we have things in common? Jenn White, host of NPR’s “1A,” will field your questions to a panel of speakers.

WORKSHOPS
Getting to Truth, Getting to Trust
Explore the power of a small collective to discover and discern truth and how to harness that power to build trust. Exercises demonstrate how to tease apart some of the counterintuitive or non-obvious ways we come to trust both information and experts.

DEEP DIVES
Taming Fire
In a pair of conversations, a climate-smart governor and leading fire scientists share the best strategies we have for managing — and ultimately taming — the flames.

Beyond Roe and Dobbs: Understanding the New Reproductive Rights Landscape
In this two-part discussion, experts explain the Supreme Court’s 1973 Roe v. Wade decision, which is widely misunderstood, and explore a world after Dobbs. What are the contours and constitutionality of new state laws designed for the post-Roe era?

JUNE 30

WORKSHOP
Truth, Trust, and the Critical Role of Curiosity
To get along with others we disagree with, we need to pay far more attention — curious attention — to perspectives. Learn from the author of the book I Never Thought of It That Way how to get curious about people on the "other side."

DEEP DIVES
Influence Is Your Superpower
How do you become someone people want to say "yes” to? Hint: You don’t have to be pushy to be influential. But confidence in who you are is key. Learn the the skills and strategies necessary to improve your natural ability to persuade.
There is much to explore beyond the campus of the Aspen Institute. Visit a burn scar from a recent wildfire with local naturalists or sample water from the river to test for microplastics. Wake up early to catch morning light at the Maroon Bells, Aspen's gateway to the wilderness, or walk the pleasant dirt trails around the Institute's campus to search for birds of the Rockies.

Rocky Mountain Bird Watching
Join a local naturalist and bird expert for a one-hour bird-watching walk along the banks of Castle Creek and the Roaring Fork River. Learn about the important roles birds play in nature and in our lives, from architectural design to pollination to indicators of ecosystem health. First come, first served. Limited to 25 participants.

WHEN: June 26 – July 1, 7 AM – 8 AM
WHERE: Meet at the Walter Isaacson Center (Aspen Meadows reception)

Maroon Bells Exploration: Guided Walk Through Aspen's Wilderness Gateway
Follow local naturalists on a gentle walk along the pristine lake beneath the famous Maroon Bells peaks. Observe massive avalanche debris from an historic Colorado winter. Learn about the plants and animals that call this home and the secrets to their success in the wilderness. First come, first served for the first 50 participants. Bring your reusable water bottle and dress warm!

WHEN: June 26 – July 1
WHERE: Shuttles leave from the Limelight Hotel in Aspen and from the Walter Isaacson Center (Aspen Meadows reception) at 7:30 AM. Buses will will return to campus by 10 AM.

Guided 5K Trail Run
Grab your sneakers and join us for a guided trail run. A local expert runner will lead you on a beautiful 5K along rivers and through forests on Aspen's remarkable network of trails. Recommended for intermediate and advanced runners. First come, first served. Limited to 15 runners.

WHEN: June 26, 27, 29, and 30, 7:30 AM
WHERE: Meet in front of the Walter Isaacson Reception Center.

Wildfire Burn Scar
In recent years, communities across the American west have struggled with larger and more severe wildfires. In 2018, the Lake Christine Fire in Basalt burned three homes and forced the evacuation of thousands. Join the Aspen Center for Environmental Studies' forest and climate director on a hike through the burn scar. Participants will see the healthy ecological impacts of fire and explore the role that climate change played in the fire's behavior. Expect to walk about one mile on an uneven dirt trail. Sturdy walking shoes are required. Please bring your reusable water bottle.

WHEN: June 27 and 29, 1:30 PM – 4:30 PM
WHERE: Buses pick up from the Walter Isaacson Center (Aspen Meadows reception)

Illuminate the Invisible: A Field-Based Microplastic Study
Microplastics are ubiquitously found around the world, but how exactly do scientists identify plastic pollution that is smaller than the eye can see? Join Laurel Zaima from Lamont-Doherty Earth Observatory at the Columbia Climate School to sample the Roaring Fork River at the edge of campus to identify the presence, abundance, and type of microplastics in our natural environment. Using an accessible sampling methodology, participants will collect, filter, and identify microplastics from water samples using state-of-the-art fluorescing equipment. Understanding and locating microplastic pollution is the first step in developing a solution.

WHEN: June 30, 1:30 PM – 3 PM
WHERE: Meet in the Comcast NBCUniversal Ideas Pavilion
HEALTH AND SAFETY
The Aspen Ideas team regards the health and safety of its staff, participants, and speakers as our highest priority. To revisit the health and safety protocols shared with you in advance of your arrival, or to review a list of frequently asked questions about these protocols, please link to the QR code here.

If you have questions about our ReturnSafe App, or would like to report any possible exposure, please visit the registration desk or e-mail COVIDSafety@aspeninstitute.org.

HAVE QUESTIONS? NEED ANSWERS?
There are several information stations around campus to address any questions you may have — about transportation, what’s going on in town, ticketing, special exhibits and events, mobile app support, and so on. Visit these FAQ hubs at the Comcast NBCUniversal Ideas Pavilion, Paepcke Lobby, and Doerr-Hosier Lobby, or find one of our expert volunteers carrying an “Ask Me” sign. We’re all here to help!

COURTESIES
Cell Phones and Late Arrivals As a courtesy to our speakers and guests, please remember to silence your mobile phones during all Festival sessions. If you are joining a session after it has started, please enter the venue quietly as not to distract speakers and other guests. Please see a staff member or volunteer if you need assistance finding a seat.
Pedestrian-Friendly Campus Many Festival visitors take walking paths around campus. Please do not ride your bicycle or WE-cycle on these paths; a number of bike racks are available on campus.
Motorcycles and Scooters may be parked in the Meadows garage in designated areas.

COMMUNITY AGREEMENT
The Aspen Institute is dedicated to advancing a free, just, and equitable society. Consistent with that mission, the Institute is committed to creating a safe and vibrant community that is respectful, inclusive, and welcoming to people from all different backgrounds and across the world. We recognize people will have different viewpoints and perspectives. However, only when we treat people with mutual respect and dignity can we truly come together to share a free and open exchange of ideas. So we offer a Community Agreement as a code of conduct to help stakeholders understand what we expect from them when they are engaging with the Institute community, as well as to guide them on what does not belong. If we all follow this Community Agreement, we can ensure everyone feels empowered to participate and further promote intellectual growth and curiosity. Learn more at aspeninstitute.org/communityagreement.

YOGA AT ASPEN IDEAS
The mind and body are inextricably linked. Center yourself and start your days off with an outdoor yoga practice. Certified yoga instructors from Lead with Love will lead you through a series of stretches and breathing exercises to activate your mind and body, connecting you more fully with yourself. A special thank you to Gina Murdock and Lead with Love.

WHEN: Daily June 26 – July 1, 8 – 8:45 AM
WHERE: Anderson Park

FOOD ON CAMPUS
From organized sessions to more casual opportunities to dine and interact with Festival speakers and attendees, there are a variety of options to choose from.
Breakfast is served daily in the Paepcke Tent and Doerr-Hosier Center lobby.
Lunch is served in the Paepcke Tent, PayPal Marble Garden Tent, Doerr-Hosier Center, and Comcast NBCUniversal Ideas Pavilion.
Organized Lunch Talks will take place in the McNulty Room of the Doerr-Hosier Center.
Make It a Picnic: Grab a picnic blanket at any of the outdoor venues and enjoy lunch outside. The following Quick Bites Options are available when you might not have time for a long lunch:
• Let’s Be Frank carts serving all-natural hot dogs on both sides of campus
• Mawa’s crêpes cart in the Paepcke Tent
• The Mayer Courtyard is stocked with all-natural snacks, treats, and beverages available throughout the day.
• Enjoy a delicious juice at the Allstate Juice Station near the Mayer Courtyard.
• Snacks are served in the morning and afternoon in both the Paepcke Tent and PayPal Marble Garden Tent.
You can stay hydrated and fill up at water coolers found around campus.
TRANSPORTATION AND PARKING
Parking on and near campus is extremely limited. We encourage you to take advantage of the robust and free WE-cycle bike share program to travel to and from campus. See pages 22–23 for more information and station locations.

IDEAS FESTIVAL SHUTTLE
Ideas Festival shuttles will operate June 25 through July 1 as outlined in the schedule on pages 22–23, and will make continuous and scheduled loops between campus, event venues, and downtown hotels. The estimated wait time for shuttles is one to 15 minutes.

FESTIVAL BOOKSTORE
Explore Booksellers is your on-campus bookstore for Aspen Ideas Festival. The Festival Bookstore is stocked with presenters’ books and similarly themed materials.

WHEN: Daily, 8 AM – 6 PM

WHERE: Comcast NBCUniversal Ideas Pavilion

SERVICES: UPS shipping available. Major credit cards accepted.

BOOK SIGNINGS: Daily at 3:45 PM in the Comcast NBCUniversal Ideas Pavilion

ZERO WASTE
The Aspen Ideas Festival Green Team has established recycling and compost stations throughout our campus. In past years, this initiative recovered 51,000 pounds of materials through recycling and composting, and saved 129,000 pounds of greenhouse gas emissions. Please help us continue working toward zero waste by paying close attention to your waste, recycling, and composting over the course of the Festival.

SAFETY AND SECURITY
The Aspen Institute places the safety and security of people as our first priority. As part of our approach to ensuring the well-being of our event attendees, we have a no-weapons policy for our locations. This is irrespective of whether an individual has a concealed weapons permit, or whether the State permits the carriage of weapons. The only exception to this rule are off-duty police officers who carry weapons as part of their role as an officer of the law. We would ask you not to bring weapons to Aspen Institute office locations and properties or when attending Aspen Institute events at off-campus venues, and if you do, that these are left secured and out of sight in the trunk of your vehicle.

PHOTOGRAPHY AND RECORDINGS
Activities at the Aspen Ideas Festival may be recorded or photographed, and the audio, video, and images created may be displayed, distributed, and/or broadcast online, on television or radio, or in print publications. By attending, you are consenting to the use of your image or voice for these purposes. Thank you.
TRANSPORTATION
Convenient Aspen Ideas Festival shuttles link the Aspen Institute campus to various hotels in Aspen and to off-campus venues. Parking on and near campus is extremely limited (see Aspen Map, page 23, for Rio Grande parking garage), so we encourage the use of Ideas Festival shuttles, Crosstown public shuttle, Aspen Meadows Resort shuttle, Walton Bikes with WE-cycle, or walking. The Aspen Institute campus is a pleasant 25-minute, one-mile walk from downtown Aspen. Biking takes less than half that time!

IDEAS FESTIVAL SHUTTLES
Ideas Festival shuttles will operate June 25 through July 1 as outlined in the schedule on pages 22–23, and will make continuous loops between campus, event venues, and downtown hotels. The estimated wait time for shuttles is one to 15 minutes.

The Aspen Ideas Festival is pleased to announce the 2022 Aspen Ideas Festival Fellows, a diverse group of over 200 leaders from all over the United States and 9 different countries that have been selected for their work, accomplishments and ability to transform ideas into action. They were nominated by senior members of the Aspen Institute’s staff, Festival advisors, previous Fellows, and many others within the Aspen Institute’s broad network. These Fellowships are made possible by a group whose purchase of special Patron passes underwrites this important program. The Aspen Institute is proud to host these distinguished leaders and grateful to the Patrons for their crucial support. Additional thanks to the Penner Family Foundation for its generous support in bringing a Fellows cohort to the 2022 Festival. The Fellows listed below will attend either Festival 1 or Festival 2.

The Open Opportunity of the Creator Economy

Discover More About the Creator Economy and How YouTube Creators are Turning Their Passion Into a Business, Brand, and Career.

YouTube has opened the door for millions of Creators to share directly in the revenue created from the videos they make and upload. Today, there are more than 2 million channels around the world who receive checks directly from YouTube, paying them for the advertising that runs on their videos. These Creators make more than 50% of the revenue YouTube earns for selling that advertising, and in the past three years, YouTube has paid more than $30 billion to creators, artists, and media companies.

The net result is that Creators are able to build thriving businesses by helping people to learn and discover on any topic under the sun, through this new way to earn money for teaching, entertaining or demonstrating their skills.

YOUNG LEADERS SPARKING CHANGE

The Bezos Family Foundation began the Bezos Scholars Program in 2005 to provide young people with a platform to design solutions to some of the most pressing issues facing their local areas. Every spring the Foundation selects a cohort comprised of 30 exceptional high school juniors and educators from across the United States and Africa as Bezos Scholars. This is a transformative, year-long, no-cost leadership development program that amplifies youth voice and action so young people with passion can start making a difference today.

What happens when these students and educators participate in all the Aspen Ideas Festival has to offer? Their experience in Aspen sets the stage for the challenge ahead: launching sustainable community change projects to transform their communities!

WE ARE HONORED TO WELCOME THE FOLLOWING 2022 BEZOS SCHOLARS:

Student Scholar Amelia Coates and Educator Diane Burke
Framingham High School, Framingham, Massachusetts

Returning jubilantly to in-person events after two years of virtual programming, Aspen Challenge celebrated its ninth year in 2022 in two cities: Miami and New Orleans. High school students from both cities heard from leaders firsthand about problems that have a local and global impact. The teams then had eight weeks to design provocative solutions to the challenges issued to them, and in citywide competitions, four grand-prize-winning teams were selected to attend the Aspen Ideas Festival. Aspen Challenge is part of the Aspen Institute’s youth leadership programs and will continue to engage students from a new US city each year.

Benjamin Franklin High School at the Katherine Johnson Campus (Krewe Du CYPRESS)
In response to the Deep South Center for Environmental Justice’s Dr. Beverly Wright’s challenge to educate their peers in an effort to combat the climate crisis, Benjamin Franklin High School (New Orleans) created an awareness campaign driven by art installations and murals that reminds New Orleans citizens of the height of the water line caused by Hurricane Katrina’s flooding of their city in 2005. The water lines are accompanied by QR codes that people can use to access a website with detailed information about how to get involved in community work to prevent future natural disasters fueled by climate change, including their own effort to plant cypress trees along major roadways. Students: Mandell Blackstone, J Garcia, Jack McComb, Stoney McKnight, Audrey Orzech, Akshita Sridhar, Sarah Cecille Usdin, and Christina You. Educator Coaches: Rachel Becker and Rebecca Gaillot.
American Senior High School (Out LOUD)
In response to United Way Miami CEO and President Joe Zubizarreta’s challenge to make theirs the last ALICE (Asset Limited, Income Constrained, Employed) generation, American Senior High School (Miami) endeavored to make the cost of child care in Miami-Dade County transparent in order to better connect working families to affordable care options that make their budgets more livable and less stressful. Out LOUD reached out to over 60 child care centers in the immediate community to audit cost and quality, and created a website and grassroots outreach campaign to give families real, detailed information about the options available to them. Students: Seth Brown, Janaysa Dorcin, Diago Gomez, Samuel Jeanpierre, Rachard King, Joanna Noel, Selin Ravelo, and Alexa Toribio. Educator Coaches: Manuel Cox and Usman Khan.

Frederick A. Douglass High School (Operation Hope 4 NOLA)
In response to author Marlon James’s challenge to create a counternarrative to outside perceptions seeking to define New Orleans by its violence, the team at Frederick A. Douglass (New Orleans) launched a series of community-based events that showcase the vibrancy and love of its city’s culture, most notably a pop-up event featuring teen entrepreneurs and artisans from Orleans Parish. The team plans to host future pop-up events in and around the city in hopes that attendees walk away knowing that the young people of New Orleans are creative, hardworking, and in tune with the soul of their city. Students: Terry Franklin, Kayla Frey, Jahzara Mason, Emily Osorio, Trenton Vincent, Chelsea Watson, Mia Darby, and Nicolas Williams. Educator Coaches: Emily Bisso and Stephanie Hinton.

The NET Charter High School: Central City (Love in Action)
In response to Born This Way Foundation’s Taylor Parker’s challenge to spread kindness in order to improve the collective mental health of New Orleans, the team from The NET Charter High School: Central City (New Orleans) led a networkwide campaign to promote empathy and change the way that students see themselves. In addition to establishing an ongoing letter-writing campaign between students at their school and Louisiana’s incarcerated, Central City founded a mentoring program for students at its partner middle school and filmed a documentary showcasing the beauty of young people in New Orleans. Students: Alexis Allen, Johnathan Chambers, Jose Guzman, Journey Miner, and Robrionne Williams. Educator Coaches: Valerie Bodet and Archana Sharma.
Open for all.

Now is the time for leaders everywhere to stand together. We must address the root causes of inequality and build a more inclusive economy that works for everyone.

Join us to build a better future for families, businesses, and communities by fostering trust and creating opportunities.

PRESENTING SPONSOR

Soli
1. The Aspen Institute is transparent about its finances, including its sources of funding. We disclose all donations and identify corporate, foundation, and government donors and sponsors in our annual reports, on our website, and to anyone who asks.

2. The Aspen Institute retains editorial control of all of our publications and events. We have the final say over what gets published, what topics are covered, and who speaks at any of our convenings.

3. The Aspen Institute is a nonpartisan educational organization, which operates independently of the positions and views of our funders. We do not engage in electoral politics or any activity that would require registration under the Lobbying Disclosure Act of 1995, and do not engage staff or contractors as lobbyists as defined by the Act.

4. The Institute will not seek on behalf of any individual or entity to influence an agency or official of the US government or the US public regarding US policy or the policies or relations of a foreign country. Similarly, the Institute will not act, directly or indirectly, as an agent, representative, or in any other capacity at the order, or under the direction or control of any government or political entity.

5. The Aspen Institute seeks to maintain a diversity of funding from foundations, individual donors, registration fees, event ticket sales, and corporate sponsorships in order to retain its independence and to avoid the potential for any funder to compromise the integrity of the discourse at the Institute. Funders are not allowed to dictate or veto content or participants in any of the Institute’s events.

6. The Aspen Institute seeks to have a diversity of opinion on its board and at its major public events.

7. A standards committee of management, staff, and independent participants, appointed by the CEO and approved by the chair of the board of trustees, will monitor and assess issues relating to the integrity of the Institute’s work. Any questions about possible conflicts of interest or unwarranted influence from funders should be referred to this committee. This committee should also be informed about any overseas government donation, individual gifts that raise questions about the Institute’s independence, and any funding that is tied to the advancement of a specific legislative proposal or executive branch action. The committee will rule on the appropriateness of any donation or sponsorship that could reasonably call into question the Institute’s integrity or independence, and shall make periodic reports to the executive committee of the board of trustees as deemed appropriate by the CEO. The director of human resources will also set up a confidential system for Institute staff to raise any concerns about standards and issues of integrity. Major issues will be reported to a standards committee of the Aspen Institute board of trustees, appointed by the chair of the board.
THE ASPEN INSTITUTE

The Aspen Institute is a global nonprofit organization committed to realizing a free, just, and equitable society. Founded in 1949, the Institute drives change through dialogue, leadership, and action to help solve the most important challenges facing the United States and the world. We bring together thoughtful people with diverse backgrounds and points of view. We cultivate and support values-based, purpose-driven leaders in many communities. We turn ideas into action and impact for individuals and society.

NBCUNIVERSAL NEWS GROUP

More Americans watch NBC News, MSNBC, and CNBC than any news organization in the world. NBC News's leading and award-winning television news broadcasts include “TODAY,” “NBC Nightly News with Lester Holt,” “Meet the Press with Chuck Todd,” and “Dateline NBC.” MSNBC is the No. 2 network across all of cable and is the premiere destination for breaking news, award-winning content, in-depth analysis, and informed perspectives. CNBC is the recognized world leader in business news and provides real-time financial market coverage, business and general news content, and prime-time reality programming, consumed by more than 557 million people per month across all platforms. The rapidly growing NBC News Digital Group — including its streaming news services NBC News NOW and TODAY All Day — and the network's award-winning original podcast and audio unit provide continuous content to consumers wherever they are, whenever they want it.
